Additional top researchers selected in the European Research Council's second Starting Grant competition

29 October 2009

Thanks to more funds made available, additional researchers have been selected for funding in the European Research Council's second ERC Starting Grant competition. This adds to the prestigious competition's already 219 grantees, announced in September. The total budget of this call is around €325 million.

The additional researchers are listed below per domain (in alphabetical order within each domain). For details please see updated domain lists.

The lists and this news release will be updated gradually as a few more grantees are expected to be announced in the coming months.
