Additional top researchers selected in the European Research Council's second Advanced Grant competition

Thanks to more funds made available, additional researchers have been selected for funding in the second Advanced Grant competition of the European Research Council (ERC). This adds to the prestigious competition's already 236 successful candidates, announced in January. The total budget of this call is around €515 million.

The additional researchers are listed below per domain (in alphabetical order within each domain). For details please see updated domain lists.
